FIVE MEETINGS

On the Ohio River Front Addressed by Senator Hanna.

WAS A GLORIOUS OCTOBER DAY

And Result Means Much for Re publicanism in Belmont.

THE TWO NIGHT MEETINGS

WERE REMARKABLE FOR LARGE AUDIENCES AND ENTHUSIASM. EFFORTS TO DISCONCERT MR. HANNA AT BELLAIRE PROVED THE WORST KIND OF A BOOM-ERANG-THE OHIO SENATOR SHOWS HOW HE HAS ALWAYS BEEN A FRIEND OF LABOR. CAPTAIN DANFORD SCORES THE DEMAGOGUES WHO WOULD DECEIVE WORKINGMEN-THE BRIDGEPORT MEETING A ROUSER.

It was a great day for Republicans and Americanism along the river from in Belmont county yesterday. The visit of Senator Hanna, who was accompanied by "Grand Old Man" Danford, developed the fact that the alleged dissatisfaction among Republicans in the river front towns is a myth or has almost entirely disappeared. At all of the five meetings during the morning, afternoon and night the attendance was large and the enthusiasm great. There is no doubt but that Mr. Hanna's plain, straightforward talks made votes for his party, and those who heard Captain Danford's speeches say he excelled himself. The success of the day's work in the river front towns has dismayed the Popocratic managers, and they are now engaged in a frantic ef-they are now engaged in a frantic effort to counteract it—are even now engaged in an effort to bring "Has Been" Bryan to Belmont county next Monday. As Mr. Hanna said in his speeches, he welcomes Bryan to the state and is curious to learn how the Nebraskan will squirm out of the false prophesies he made last fall.

The two larger meetings of the day were at Martin's Ferry and Bellaire at night. At Martin's Ferry not more than one-third of the crowd desiring to thear Hanna could obtain admittance to the opera house. In Bellaire many were turned away, the rink being entirely too small. The efforts made by a delegation of Popocratic toughs, distributed through the hall, to break up hoth Weems and Hanna proved unsuccessful, and proved the worst kind of a boomerang—they show to what desperate straits the Popocracy has come to in order to stem the tide that has set in toward Republicanism and continued prosperity.

AT MARTIN'S FERRY.

The Night Meeting was one of Glorious Success-Great Enthusiasm.

Hanna-Danford-Keator meeting at the Martin's Ferry opera house last night was one of the most wonderful meetings ever held in Belmont county. It was certainly the most enthusiastic, The Martin's Ferry opera house never contained such a large audience and probably as many people were unable to

The opera house was filled entirely with adults, the doorkeepers refusing admittance to boys and the audience was a most orderly one for such a demonstrative gathering.

The cheering and applause was deafening, nearly everybody taking part, even the ladies joining. A very large number of people occupied seats on the stage. Meister's brass band played lively ly airs and Samuel Westwood acted as chairman and introduced Hon. Lorenzo Danford, who made a strong plea for the party in his able manner, speaking for fifteen minutes and was well received.

He said he rejoiced in the fact that he came among the people with full assurances that the promises of 1886 have been fulfilled. When the party met at St. Louis there was general gloom all over the country. That convention declared in favor of protection and sound money. The Democratis declared for free silver and practically the Wilson-Gorman tariff. We took chances at making predictions and nearly all have come true. In 1896 one-half of the people in this vicinity were idle and in want and to day nearly every industry in running to its full capacity. The farmer was hard pressed and now he is strong in his belief that prosperity has come. He finds a market for his butter and eggs and poultry.

"You know who our candidate for sensetor is. Who is the candidate for the story is whose the stage and they were sprinkled through all parts of the audience.

The audience was make miles, mines and factories, and the intermingling of the voices of all of the mines, and factories, and the intermingling of the voices of all of the mounted hope high in the mines of all who debated, whether Republicans were active or not. There is no longer doubl, leaves were all vent to two the town where the same here laded that the Popper or the same here laded that the Popper or the same here all vent to the intermingling of the voices of all of the send the intermingling of the voices of all of the mounted here and they had debated, whether Republicans w

"You know who our candidate for senator is. Who is the candidate for the Democratic party? The Democrats have not got courage to announce that John R. McLean is their candidate. They keep him behind my friend General Warner, behind some man in Canton or any other old thing. This election is as important as the one in 1896. If Bryan had been elected together with the Democratic Congress it would have been that other issue and not protection. The matter of wages must be settled between the employe and employer. The man who stands about the street corner and talls you the Republican party has not kept its promise is a dengagone. You might elect Mr. Campbell to the legislature and he could do nothing to fix the matter of wages. I predict a good old fashioned Republican majority in Belmort county and the election of both candidates for the legislature and the election of the entire county ticket.

Captain Danford closed amid hearty cheering.

MR. HANNA'S RECEPTION.

MR. HANNA'S RECEPTION. The reception given Senator Hanna when he stepped forward to speak, would be a high compliment to any when he stepped forward to speak, would be a high compliment to any man. Just as he was beginning to talk, Mrs. Patrick Mullen approached the stage and handed him a boquet of yellow flowers. He bowed and thanked her in a happy manner, "I appreciate this boquet because it's yellow, and that's my color. It's a color that has been tried and is true and will stand as long as the nation stands.

"I came here almost an entire stranger and have enjoyed my stay and reception. I came because I wanted to come, and not by any threat. (Applause.) I have been in partnership with workingmen many years. (Applause.) I have been in partnership with workingmen many years. (Applause.) I have seen in partnership with workingmen many years. (Applause.) I have always been happy when my employes were enjoying the same prosperity as I did. (Cheera.).

"I closed my deak in 1834 and enlisted in the cause of William McKinley. (Applause.) I enlisted hecause. McKinley was my friend and was the man wanted by the people. (Applause.) Impelled from a sense of duly to avert danger impending with bankropicy and attervation. I knew that a chacite was necessary and felt that there was a man in the state of Ohlo who had the esteem and affection of the laboring people everywhere and believed that McKinley was the Moses to lead us out of the wilderness. (Cheers.)

"The restriction of immigration is the protection the workingmen now the Republican party stands for and that's what I stand for. (Cheering, The victory of last fall is not complete until we have a majority in both branches of Congress. The party has given you the best tariff bill ever placed on the statute books and will do more. (Applause.) There is not an industry in Ohio that every Republican in the senate and house did not stand for. (Cheers and applause.)

"The Ohio delegation worked hard and none worked harder than my distinguished friend. Captain Danford. (Hearty cheering.) He was always as firm as a rock in favor of it. (Applause.) The Republican party has done more for the country than any other party. We are nothing compared to the issues at stake. One year ago every business man in the United States was interested in the result of last fell. The Democrats at their convention at Chicago, gave the country such a shock that it has not yet recovered. (A volce—"Right you are.")

"No wonder people were paralyzed, and stuplied. The Fiepublicans faced about and were ready to fight the enemy. Even the pulpit thundered its opposition. The issue of free silver was simply an act of desperation. (Applause.) Ever since the failure of that silver campmeeting at Springfield, they began to look around and see what they could do next. They have sent for Bryan and I think it an honor to know he is to follow me. (Laughter.) They opened their batteries of mud and slime in 1898 and it did not take a vote from McKinley, (applause) and it did not hurt me. (Loud cheers.)

"I consider it an honor to be the candidate of the Republican party for the United States senate. (Applause), and I propose to stand by the workingmen as they stood by me in 1896. (Applause) and it can prove it by every man in my employ. (Great cheering.) Go to the 5000 me nin my mines, dooks and street railways and I'll give 1100 to any man who can prove I have ever been a 'labor crusher.' (Deafening cheers.) A labor leader interviewed me some time ago about these charges, and I ascertained the figures and although it was age of $50 per month and that was before the Dingley bill was passed. (Continued cheers.) The labor leader left fully convinced that I was not guilty. The Democrats even tried to get up a scheme to catch the colored voters as they did the workingmen, but it won't work." (Cheers.)

Turning to Captain Danford, he asked what they called that party and the captain smillneity told him and Mr. Hanna then said, "Well, I'll do as one man did and call it the fool's party."

This caused tremendous cheering and laughter. Senator Hanna's speech was suddenly interrupted by the tooting of the locomotive whistle on the train which was to take the party to Bellaire, and he immediately closed by which was to take the party to Bellaire, and he immediately closed by asking the Republicans to give 1,500 majority in Belmont county and there were remarks of "We will do it."

T. P. Keator, esq., of Chicago, followed with a great speech on the money and tariff from the standpoint of the wage earner and was more than well received, and was often interrupted by hearty applause.

BELLAIRE'S FINE MEETING.

The Grandest Republican Gathering Ever Seen in the Glass City.

The grandest Republican meeting ever in the Elysian Teatre Bellaire was that of last held night. it was a home meeting, confined almost wholly to the people of that city, and it indicated that the sturdy followers of the Republican party are in line this fall to continue the work that leads to prosperity. They manifested this in their presence and enthusiasm. The audience was made up of all classes. They came from the places of business, form and excerted the speakers to the theatre, and the boys have not forgotten the step to good music.

THE ELOQUENT WEEMS.

It was 8 o'clock when the Heatherington brass band led the way to the theatre, and promptly after the arrival, Hunter S. Armstrong, in the absence of W. C. Bergundthal, who was kept away by the death of a relative, called the meeting to order. The mention of the name of Belmont county's gifted son, Hon. C. L. Weems, brought heafty cheers, and that gentleman stepped to the front and faced an audience ready and anxious to respond to the story of progress and prosperity which he related in his own inimitable way. He recited in a telling way the march of progress, in spite of occasional breaks when the opponents of the Republican policles succeeded through the apathy of the people. He recounted the progress of the past thirty-five or forty years under Republican rule, stopped for four years following '92, but started again when President William McKinley was seated this year. Then he referred to the Popocrats and in a humorous way said they had been whipped so bad last year that the 16 to 1 fellows were so completely laid out that they must go out and get a reputation, before they can claim attention on that score again. "We are here now holding an inquest on that old corpse—there's not even a squirm left in it."

Mr. Weems then followed with sound death of a relative, called the meeting to score again. "We are here now holding an inquest on that old corpse—there's not even a squirm left in it."

Mr. Weems then followed with sound reasoning, giving Jacob S. Coxey and his followers more credit than the free eliver Popocrats because Mr. Coxey wants a piece of paper stamped a dollar and says that will make it a dollar and he argued that if the stamp would add fifty or fifty-five cents to silver it could just as well make it 100 cents. If the Popocrats want to whip anybody, let them go whip Coxey and get a reputation. He made some telling points about the talk concerning millionaires by referring to W. J. Bryan talking to the county fairs for half the gate receipts. Mr. Weems was annoyed some by about a dozen hissers in the audience, and he wound up with a grand effort and gave way upon the arrival of Congressman Danford, Senator Hanna and others.

CAPTAIN DANFORD SPEAKS.

CAPTAIN DANFORD SPEAKS. Captain Danford was next introduced and in a splendid effort he recalled the promises made by the Republican party last fall and said they had been fulfilled so far as the restoration of confidence goes; the Wilson-Gorman monstrosity had been repealed and the Dingley tariff law passed; the wheels of industry have started, and the mills have business to do. We have met the expectations of reasonable men.

do. We have met the expectations of reasonable men.

He said it was upfortunate that the Bellaire mill was idle. That is no political matter, however much effort may be made to inject it into politics. The men who parade up and down to make political capital out of that are false leaders, and he said every Republican and many good Democratis deprecate the condition of affairs there. It is unfortunate that there are any men in this country who feed upon such distressing circumstances. "I thank God that I belong to a party that never did and never can rejoice over the misfortunes of mankind." He expressed the hope that the management and the men, his old neighbors, would soon get together and settle their differences and get a share of the prosperity. But nothing can be gained by striking at the party or the men who brought orders to this mill. Then he said old Belmont country would be in line this fall, that outside of this particular locality, things are all right and Belmont will stand by the party that brought about a better condition of things all along this valley.

In a few words he stated that the candidate in the open for the United States senate, Marcus A. Hanna, was present, and he gave way to Senator Hanna.

HANNA'S ABLE EFFORT.

HANNA'S ABLE EFFORT. Senator Hanna expressed his appreciation of the outpouring of the people, and then recounted in an effective way the work of the Republicans in electing President McKinley upon such a magnificent platform as that made at St. Louis. The splendid platform and the disciple of protection upon it brought hope, and the election restored confidence. Then he referred to the Chicago platform, beginning with the free coinage of silver and ending with an attack upon the very foundation of the government. But the loyalty and patriotism of the American people saved the country, restored confidence and gave us the conditions that prevail to-day as compared with those of last year. The election was not the consummation of our hope. It was but the beginning. Then with telling force he told how the senate with less than a majority of Republicans by the aid of a few patriotic free silver Republicans and Democrats came to the rescue of the President and passed the Dfingley law.

He impressed in forceful manner and language the importance of every voter being at the polis. The victory of last fall should be made secure by making the selection of a Republican senator from Ohio a certainty. It is necessary to consummate the object and purposes of the platform of last year. The election this year is but a sequence to that of last year, should not be found apathetic this year. That is the greatest danger. Then he referred to the Democratic leaders endorsing the Chicago platform. It was an act of desperation, with John R. McLenn as the free silver candidate for United States senator. Then he referred to the Democratic leaders endorsing the Chicago platform. It was an act of desperation, with John R. McLenn as the free silver candidate for United States senator. Then he referred to the Democratic leaders endorsing the Chicago platform. It was an act of desperation, with John R. McLenn as the free silver candidate for United States senator. Then he referred to the permocratic leaders endors and the was the talk of a plain, earnest, candid business man.

In scathing terms he denounced the fattempt to array class against class, and he won the applians an

Secretary Howard Hazlett read a communication from Secretary Shirley, of the Wheeling Railway Company, offering the use of their cars for the entertainment of the visitors. The offer was accepted, and resolutions were adopted, thanking the company Two cars were considered sufficient, and these will be called into service this morning to convey the visitors around the city, visiting as many industrial plants as the limited time will permit. The trolley ride begins at $30 o'clock and the local committees will call on the Cleveland business men at the corner of Fourteenth and Water streets at that hour. At 10:30 o'clock the visitors leave over the Ohio River road, stopping first at Moundsville for twenty-five minutes. The next stop is at Sistersville, the oil town being sighted at 12:15 o'clock, and dismissed half an hour later. Parkersburg, Marietta and Caldwell complete the towns on to-day's programme, and co-morrow—after stopping at Cambridge, Zauesville, Coslocton and Canton, the starting point of the three day's itinerary is expected to be reached at $3 o'clock. So far all the travellers are pleased with the trip, and think it will redound in no small manner to profitable returns. A repetition is already spoken of, though different territory will likely be chosen.

The visitors are a representative body of men, full of confidence in Cleveland's future as a business center prize, calculated to benefit their and their city's interests, and is another illustration of the tendency among jobbers and retailers to get closer together.

united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed at St. Joseph's cathedral at 8:30 o'clock in the morning and was witnessed by a large and fashionable audience composed of friends of the contracting parties.

The bride passed down the aisle accompanied by her father and met the groom and attendants. The impressive ceremony usual in the Catholic church was performed by the Right Rev. Bishop P. J. Donahue. Miss Hoffmann made a charming bride and her costume was a creation in ivory satin, a la duchesse, trimmed with point lace, and carried illies of the valley. The usual long veil of tulle was worn.

Miss Ella Waterhouse was the charming maid of honor, and wore a beautiful gown of pink and gold brocaded silk. The flower girl was little Miss Marie Mabis. The bridesmaids were Misses Catherine Kleinfelter, of Cincinnati; Flora Morgan, Byrd Schultz, Laura Stifet, Annie Hoffmann and Flora Stifet, who wore pink taffeta silk. The maid of honor and the bridesmaids wore short tulle veils and carried white chrysanthemums.

The best man was Mr. George Truschel, a brother of the groom, and the ushers were Messes. Anthony Bohen, of Philadelphia; Thomas Miller, Milton Mabis, Frank Waterhouse, John Hoffmann and Edward Truschel.

The prevailing foral decorations at the cathedral were white chrysanthemums.

A reception to the younger friends of

A reception to the younger friends of the newly married couple followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hoffmann after the wedding. The house decorations were in smilax, palms, white and pink roses and chrysanthemums. The bride's table was a marvel in the decorative art. The center piece was of pink and white roses. Ribbons awung from the chandelier to the corners of the table.

After the wedding breakfast the wedded couple left for the east.

SUTTON-JEPSON WEDDING

This evening at 8 o'clock, in the First Presbyterian church, occurs the wedding of Miss Bessie Welday Jepson, ding of Miss Bessie Welday Jepson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. L. Jepson, to Mr. Lewis Sutton, cashier of the Dolar savings bank of St. Clairsville. The ceremony will be witnessed by a number of the friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

The attendants will be: Miss Edith Higby, of Cleveland, maid of honor; Misses Bessie Atkinson, daughter of Governor Atkinson, Neille Craddock, and Ada and Jennie Jepson, sisters of the bride, as bridesmaids. Mr. Walter Cunningham, of St. Clairsville, will act as best man, and Messrs. J. P. Frazier and W. T. Hewetson, of St. Clairsville, Bates Butler and Percy Norton, of Wheeling, and John Lowrey Wagner, of Cleveland, as ushers.

MILLER-ROSENBERG. The Windsor parlors were the scene of an elaborate wedding ceremony last night, the contracting parties being night, the contracting parties being Mr. Nathan J. Miller, of Baltimore, and Miss Linda Rosenberg, of this city, daughter of the late Victor Rosenberg. Rabbi Levi officiated, and the attendants were the father and mother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller. The flower girls were Misses Pauline Gaus, of Baltimore, and Pauline Horkbeimer.

The nower girs were alisses Fauline Gaus, of Baltimore, and Pauline Horkheimer.

The wedding took place about 8 o'clock and an hour later the wedding banquet was served. There were over fity guests present, including a number of out of town people, among them being Mr. and Mrs. William Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Gaus, of Baltimor, e and Mr. and Mrs. Catzenstein and daughter, of Washington, Pa. The Opera House orchestra discoursed a pleasing programme of music, and the Windsor parlors were tastefully decorated. At 11:40 c'clock Mr. and Mrs. Miller left over the Baltimore & Ohio on a western trip, and upon their return they will live in Baltimore, where the groom is in the banking and brokerage business. The bride is an accomplished and popular member of local Hebrew soclety, and a host of best wishes follow her to her new home.

DEAN-PRINCE NUPTIALS.

Mr. Clay Dean and Miss Marie Prince were quietly married last evening at : o'clock at the residence of the bride's mather, No. 105 North York street, by Rev. Jacob A. Brittingham, rector of St. Laike's Protestant Episcopal church. The wedding was a quiet affair, only the immediate families of the contracting parties being present. The bride is a daughter of the late Captain Thomas Prince, and the groom is well known in Wheeling and vicinity, being the traveling representative of the wholesale drug house of Orr, Brown & Price, of Columbus, Ohlo. The newly married couple left over the Baltimere & Ohlo railroad at 12:25 this morning for the east, and upon their return will be at home to their friends at No. 105 North York street, Island. o'clock at the residence of the bride's
